PROLOGUE. By Britain's Genius.

While Sphinx pleading Charms profound,
 Refresh'd my Limbs, and Fancy took her Round;
 Visionary Dreams did my Quiet molest,
 One, surprizingly, more than all the rest.
 Methoughts I saw a mighty Angel bright,
 With pleasing Beams, that seem'd Seraphick Light.
 He spoke with Voice strange, and surprizing loud,
 Like Jove's Thunder, when broke from ambient Cloud.
Britons awake! What Sleep, when Danger's near?
Rome's Engines are preparing e'ry where,
 To extirpate the fam'd Protestant Line:
 Rouse, take Advice, ben't foolishly Supine.
 With Party Knaves begun, lay them aside,
 Let blessed Union be your Counsel's Guide.
 Let Britains be with Toleration blest'd;
 Avoid Distinction, 'tis Religion's Pest.
Jackish Priests send o'er to some Foreign Land,
 Where Fools obey, usurping Knaves command.
 Freed from that Crew, Romish Power must cease,
 Nor will their Ghostly Cheats disturb your Peace.
 Protestants, now's the Time, Heaven's on your Side,
 The Jacks in Government must not preside,
 Nor o'er the honest Loyal Party ride:
 Those Miscreants send o'er the raging Main,
 And with their Jemmy in Succession Reign.
 From Aaron's Throne exclude the Bigot Priest,
 Away with him, Religion he'll infect,
 With juggling Knacks, by Jesuit profess'd.
 Churchmen prefer, that dare be bold and tight
 For William's Revolution, George's Right.
 All perjur'd Jacks, the Bane of Church and State,
 Wisely remove, and let them know their Fate:
 Their ill Success at preston lately try'd,
 Shews Brunswick's Mission to subdue their Pride.
 That Britain's Credit he'll once more restore,
 Make her Isle sound August, as heretofore;
 Her Throne set on the Theatre of Fame,
 And give Protestants an immortal Name.
Britains arise, your sleepy Courage wake,
 And Rome's main Pow'r, as with an Earthquake, shake.

This Table shews the Moons Sign for every Day in the Year, 1724 for the Use of Countrymen.

This Table shews the Hours and Minutes of the Moon's coming to the South, and the Hours and Minutes of High Water at London Bridge. Do this; look in the Almanack for the last New Moon, First or Last Quarter, which hap- pen'd last before the Day you enquire on, Number the Days from the said New or Full Moon; then find that Number amongst the Days in the Table, after the New or Full Moon: And in the upper Part of the Table, under the Title Moon's South, you have the Hours and Minutes of the Moon's Southing; and in the Right Hand Column of the Table, you have the Hours and Minutes of High-water at London Bridge: Do the same by the lower Part of the Table, to find the Moon's Southing, and High-water at London Bridge, any Day or Days after either of the Quar- ters: It is so plain, there needs no Example.

To find the Time of High-water at the several Ports above-mentioned; first seek the Moon's Southing, by the foregoing Table, for your Day; then in this Table find the Name of the Place you would know the Time of High-water, or full Sea, and against the Name of the Port, take the Hours and Minutes you find, and add to the Hours and Minutes of the Moon's Southing, and both Numbers of Hours and Minutes added together, give the Time of High-water in Hours and Minutes; but if both Numbers make more than 12 Hours, you must cast away 12 Hours, and the remaining Hours and Minutes, is the Time of full Sea at that Place; and so for any other Place mentioned in the Table.

Example: At what Time of the Day will it be full Sea at Gravesend, on the 16th of January. First, in the Table before, find the Hour and Minute that the Moon comes to the South, which you'll find to be 49 Minutes after 12 a Clock, add those 49 Minutes to the Hour and Minutes which you find in the Column on the Right Hand, under H. for Hours, and M. for Minutes, which, in the Table above, you will find to be 1 Hour, and 30 Minutes. This 1 Hour and 30 Minutes, added to the Hour and Minute of the Moon's Southing, both together make 2 Hours and 10 Minutes, which shews you that the Time of full Sea that Morning at Gravesend, is 10 Minutes past 2 a Clock; to which if you add 12 Hours 24 Minutes, that will give you the Time of full Sea at Gravesend in the Afternoon, viz. at more than half an Hour past 2 in the Afternoon.

Gravely steers the State, and peaceably reigns,
In spite of Jack Flies, who dare tempt his Fame,
Threaten Clouds of Ill, which they dare not Name :
In Cabals talk big, what Things they'll devise
For their Church, and glibly swallow Romish Lies.

Monthly Remarks.

A discontented Party continue to murmur and complain against Government, and use their utmost clandestine subtle Arts, to stir up and irritate the old Spirit of Discontent and sowre Murmuring. The Position of Mars points out some Misfortunes to Spain, Hungary, North of Denmark: It shews an Increase of Rogues, fraudulent and villanous Practices in the City of London; it looks like Imprisonments and Whipping to some, and the Use of Halters to others more than usual; but the Transits of the Two benevolent Planets, promise better Things: A new Scene of some Affair for the publick Good, seems to begin to dawn and break out.

The Favour of a Prince is extended to some grave Statesman.

March hath XXXI Days.

When David Reign'd, the Sacred Scriptures tell,
Saul's Son, and Captain-Gen'ral did Rebel ;
Parties rais'd, and Civil Wars did begin,
Shimei curs'd too ; Zeruiah's Sons lov'd th' King.
Like those who into Rebellion did fly,
Let all that strive like them to live, to dye.

The First Day of this Month, 1682, was born her Royal Highness the Illustrious Princess of Wales. Some Friend to the Revolution, will have Uneasiness from the Saturnian Tribe of Romish Priests from Abroad, and from the Jackish Priests, and those they have by Delusion bigotted into their Rebellious Schemes. These Party Leaders, and their seduc'd Profelites, will be very busy and active in the Exercise of their Talents for Mischief. One by subtle Amusements, back'd with false Complaints of Taxes, Burdens, and hard Government, and the other by open and violent Noise, Clamour, scandalous false Suggestions of loss of Liberty and Property, by the pretended too arbitrary Practices of some Ministers in Government: but in Truth design'd and levell'd at the Prince and Government.

April hath XXX Days.

Bigot Jacks may Cabal, and Treason hatch,
 In Counterplots they'll meet an Over-match;
 Tho' Underground they concert their Design,
 There's one not seen, that works a Counter-Mine.
 Britain's Church he'll save from Rome's raging Sec,
 Her Son's from that ghostly Tyranny set free.

Monthly Remarks.

From the Collision of the Rays of the Two Infortunes which happen'd towards the end of the last Month, you may expect, in or near this Month, to hear from several Parts, of their usual untoward Effects (i. e.) an Account of the worst Crimes acted, that brutish Nature of human Kind can invent and perpetrate: The Princes and Governments of Europe ought to join in a full and effectual League, Offensive and Defensive, to root out or utterly suppress, that Nest of monstrous Villains, call'd Pirates, which swarm on the Seas, to the Destruction of Trade, &c.

The 15th Day of this Month, 1721, was born the hopeful Prince William, 2d Son to his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales.

A Gownman falls under the Misfortunes of his Superiors. Removes amongst Secretaries, Scribes, and other Men of that Sort.

May hath XXXI Days.

Come Protestant cheer, Jacks thain't more intent
Thy Church, break thy Peace, or insult thy Rest.
Nor Popish Prince thy British Scepter sway,
Gloomy Night is past, Nassau brought thy Day.
The Glorious Beams of Morning show their Light,
Thy Sun's risen from Government of Night.

June hath XXX Days:

Protestants let no Discontent appear,
 Be pleas'd in Times of Peace, rather than War;
 Don't let the Party Knaves disturb you more
 Than bloody Wars have done in Times before.
 Let Rools, that are out, grudge at Knaves in Place,
 And call them honest who are in Disgrace.

July hath XXXI Days

Men prefer'd in State, Knaves are call'd of Court,
 For they, who would be in them, would be worse.
 'Tis not at Foreigners that they repine,
 Would Foreigners their Perquisites resign,
 The grand Contentions plainly seen,
 To get some Men put out, and some put in.

September hath XXX Day

When out of Place, at Government they saile,
Like Patriot's Grievance much bewaile;
As soon as Balsam Place is rightly apply'd,
To t'other Side for Profit He's ally'd.
But if the golden Key he doth resign,
The railing Devil soon returns again.

So thy of Low Church or late they are grown,
As if they strove to get to Heaven alone,
Rigid and zealous, positively grave,
And ev'ry Grace, but Charity, they have.
If your Mistakes, their ill Opinion gain,
No Merit can their Favour re-obtain.

PATRIDGE, 1724.

THE PROTESTANT REMEMBRANCE
Continued, Or a
Comparative Dissertation on the Increase of Papists, and Decrease of Protestants.

THE implacable Enmity which the Church of Rome hath entertain'd against Protestants and their Religion, doth most manifestly appear to Mankind, by innumerable Persecutions, and unparalleled Massacres which they have committed on Protestants; for most Nations in Christianity where they found Protestants within their Power, have been more or less drench'd with the Blood of Protestants, shed at the Command, and at the Instigation of the Popes, Popish Bishops, and Popish Clergy.

It is a Truth undeniable, That ever since Protestants began the Reformation from the Superstition, vain Ceremonies, and Idolatrous Practices of the Church of Rome, the Popish Clergy have left no Stone unturn'd, no unchristian Practices unattempted, to destroy and root out Protestants and their Religion out of the World: Look back and see their dismal Plots, and bloody Designs against our magnanimous Protestant Princess, Queen Elizabeth, of eternal Memory; against her pacifick Protestant Successor King James I. his pious (altho' unhappy) Son, and his Lascivious Grandson, because he had not Courage to give boldly into all their Schemes of Destruction to the Protestant Interest; their inhuman murdering Designs and Plots against the Life and Government of the Saviour of the Protestants and Protestant Religion, King William; and against his present Majesty King George, the bold Defender of Protestants, and Protestant Religion and Interest, are all undeniable Proofs of their Enmity to Protestants.

It is worthy of the Protestants Knowledge and Remembrance, That it hath always been the Policy and Practice of the Church of Rome, and her Agents, Priests and Jesuits, to amuse unwary Protestants with subtle and perplex insignificant Distinctions in Religion; and that they have thereby created and disseminated Divisions, made Parties, caused and continued Separations amongst them, as the most effectual Method to introduce Popery: From whence it is manifest to be the true Interest of Protestants, to unite amongst themselves against them, as their common Enemy, which would give a deadly Blow to Roman Delusion, and if neglected, will hazard the Ruin of the Protestants Religion and Interest, by the Introduction of Popery.

The surprizing Decrease of Protestants in Number, Power and Interest, since the Reformation, is worthy of the most serious Consideration of all Protestants! It is a Matter of the greatest Concern towards their Preservation! In the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, the Protestants were in Number, Interest and Power, more than a Match for the Papists: The Protestants in France kept the Balance of Power even between them and the Papists, defended themselves, and preserved their Religion against all Attempts of the Church of Rome, as doth fully appear by the French Historians as well as by others.

The Protestants in Germany were so numerous and powerful, that the martial Prince and subtle Politician Charles V. who made Europe tremble, could not reduce or suppress them by his Fire, Flagot and Sword.

PARTRIDGE, 1724.

The Kingdom of Bohemia was almost all Protestant; near Half the Subjects of Hungary, of Austria, and Moravia were the same; the Houses of Newburgh were Protestants; the Palatinates for the greater Part were Protestants; some of the Cantons of Switzerland, and the Saxons were all Protestants, and stood as a Bulwark of Defence to their Protestant Brethren, when oppress'd for their Religion, by their common Enemies the Papists.

Many of the Subjects of Bavaria, Colegn, Wurzburg, and Wormes were Protestants; the Vaudois in Italy were most Protestants; great Numbers in the Spanish Low Countries were Protestants; Denmark, Sweden, Prussia, Brandenburgh, England and Scotland were Protestant, and great part of Ireland.

But now Protestants in Numbers, Power and Interest are strangely diminished; the whole Body of Protestants in the Kingdom of Bohemia are destroy'd, and Papists settled in their Room; the Protestants of Poland, Austria, Moravia are destroy'd, and Papists plac'd in their Places and Estates; the Protestants in Hungary are reduced to a small Number, and those in a miserable State of Affliction, under Popish Slavery and Oppression.

The Houses of Newburgh are become bitter Enemies to Protestants; the present Elector Salvator is a Branch of these Houses, and his implacable Hatred to Protestants hath lately appeared to all Europe; the Protestants of Bavaria, Bamburgh, Colegn, Wurzburg, Savoy, Piedmont, and the Vaudois are destroy'd; the Protestants in France and the Spanish Low Countries are destroy'd; the Saxons, the ancient Bulwark of the Protestant Religion, are so far from being able to help their Brethren, that they labour under dreadful Apprehensions of the utmost Danger of being destroy'd, by or from their Elector, and his Son and Heir, who are turn'd Papist.

By this short Historic Account it appears, That Protestants had spread themselves over most Part of Europe, that they had gain'd Possession of whole Kingdoms and Countries, and the greatest Part in others, and that they had obtain'd a very formidable Power in Europe, and that the Protestant Religion was freely taught, practiced and established in most of those Kingdoms and Countries.

PARTIDGE, 1724.

But alas! ————— Sæpius olim
Religio peperit Scelerosa atque impia facta,

The Case is alter'd ; Protestants are surprizingly decreased in Number, Interest and Power, as will appear by what follows.

For now there remains only Great-Britain, Part of Ireland, Denmark, Sweden, the Kingdom of Prussia, his British Majesty's German Dominions, the Seven Dutch Provinces, and Two Cantons of Switserland, and some few Protestants scattered in other Countries here and there, who dare not own that Religion, much less appear in Defence of the same.

This can't but be surprizing to thinking Men, especially to those that know that this grand Decrease hath been accomplished by the Machiavilian Councils of the Church of Rome, her Priests, Jesuits and Statesmen, put into barbarous, inhuman, and most unchristian Practices, by some amongst many of the following Methods.

First, The continual Union among Papists, in an incessant and industrious Application to delineate, propagate and establish the idolatrous and superstitious Religion of the Church of Rome.

Secondly, Their various and unwaried Attempts, to undermine, root out, burn and destroy Protestants, and utterly to subvert their Religion.

Thirdly, By stirring up Religious Wars, by Slaughters, Massacres, Murders, Persecutions, Torments, and other cruel Deaths.

Fourthly, By setting up subtle, insignificant Distinctions of Words in Religion, and thereby raising, propagating and continuing Divisions among the unwary Protestants, which necessarily seduced them into Practices and consequently into Heats and Contentions one against another ; to the End, That Popish Agents might, under the Cover of such Controversies, carry on their destructive Designs with the less Observation.

Esch'y,

PARTRIDGE, 1724.

Fifthly, By their Priests artful deluding Protestants of one Denomination from a charitable Opinion of the other, by preaching up to one the Use and Benefit of certain Rules, Rites and Ceremonies as Sacred, which they saw would certainly keep up their Heats and Divisions.

Sixthly, By those very Priests and Agents, at other Times and Places, preaching up to the other Party, That those same Rules, Rites and Ceremonies were kept up by Protestants Rulers, for stumbling Blocks to their weak Brethren, whose Consciences could not comply with them; and that they were contrary to Christian Liberty, and Occasions of Persecutions for Non-Conformity.

Seventhly, By these Methods Popish Agents have effected the End they design'd, that is, created and raised Divisions among Protestants, and thereby seduced them into an imprudent, as well as an unchristian Spirit of Contention, about artful Words and Nick Names, rather than the Essentials of Religion; and thereby also lulld some Protestants into a Supine Temper, and others into an indolent State, or careless Indifference, so as to halt between the Papists and Protestants Religion.

From what hath been said it appears that Papists by their Union in Council and Practice, have destroyed whole Nations or Counties of Protestants, consisting of several Hundred Thousands; and that they have utterly rooted out their Religion, taken away their Houses, Habitations, Estates real and personal, and given them to Papists; that they have placed Papists where Protestants were settled; and that Protestants, by intestine Divisions and unchristian mistaken Zeal, have lost the greater Part of their Dominions, Number, Interest and Power; from whence it must be rationally concluded, that if they continue in such an unchristian Temper and Spirit, and obstruct or neglect Union among themselves, for their mutual Defence against their common Enemies the Papists, they must necessarily fall under the miserable State, into which the Jews by the just Judgement of God fell, that is, become Slaves to Romish Caldeans.

In this dangerous Crisis of the Protestant Religion, it hath pleased the divine Goodness to leave Great-Britain the yet Arbiters of Protestant Fate, and to annex such Advantages to that Office, that the Honour, the Duty, and

PATRIDGE, 1724.

Security of Britain seem to be bound up together, of one in another.

The Protestants in common Prudence ought to consider, That Papists are united in one entire Body against them, as against a common Enemy; that great and powerful Fourth Prince and Dominions are united by conjugal Alliances as well as political; that their Power is thereby more formidable, and that their Numbers are superior, that Superiority and Union are certain Indications of Success; that Disunion and Factions among Protestants are certain Indications of Destruction and Ruin, as is wisely observed by Tacitus, the Political Roman Historian: Rarus (saith he) ad propagandum commune periculum conventus, ut dum singula pugnant universa vincuntur.

There must be common Force to oppose common Danger, they struggled one by one till they were all destroyed

I will only add, That the subtle Romish Statesmen very well know, that whenever and wherever Protestants unite, their Designs against them will be defeated by their Courage and the Truth of their Religion; they also know, that if they cannot continue Divisions among Protestants, in those Things which one Party would have, and the other deny, in Matters relating to Divine Worship, that their Labour will be at an End, and that all their Projects against them will be ineffectual; for Reason tells them, and Experience hath shewn them, that Union of Protestants foretels the Fall of Romish Idolatry, Superstitious Ceremonies, and priestly Tyranny.

These Things, if duly considered, must surely move, rouse and stir up Protestants, as if from sacred Impulse to come to a Christian Temper in a general Union, as the necessary and only Means for their mutual Preservation.

As a Preliminary to the following Atronomical Observations, a short Inquiry is made into the present State of the Kingdoms and States in Europe, as they are transmitted from Foreign Parts in publick prints and Letters: The Dane is in a State of Peace, but with great Reason to take Umbrage at the Naval and Martial Provisions of a Neighbour, who without Regard to Cobweb Laws,

PARTRIDGE, 1724.

Laws, called Laws of Nations, and Bounds to Human Actions, makes it his Business to render himself August by absolute Command, and cruel by Punishment for Disobedience. Sweden seems to be as uneasy and as unsteady as the unruly Israelites in the Wilderness; Bondage, Tyranny and Slavery seem more acceptable to them than Liberty; the Egyptian Potage smells stronger than the Divine Manna and Quails.

Priests rule in Poland, and what will be their End, the Prophet Jer. chap. 5. ver. 31. hath told us.

The mighty Muscovian and Russian Monarch racks his Brain, breaks his nocturnal Rest, and impairs his Health to obtain a Name in future Story; but alas, this mighty reasoning Engine will fall, like the meanest of his Vassals, and all his Projects prove fruitless, his present Peace is precarious, his Success doubtful, his last Efforts will be surprizing!

The Noble and Magnificent Prussian is in Peace, but he'll meet with Rubs in his Conduct; he is invincibly attack'd (to his Honour be it spoken) to the Protestant Interest.

Germany, and her other Elective Powers w^{ill} have more Business than they'll like, as well from abroad as also at Home. Lorrain will provoke a potent Neighbour. The German Chief will take Umbrage, and be uneasy at the Conduct of a potent Neighbour.

The Actions of the Ottoman Court will caution the Northern and Western Emperors to provide against the Day of Battle.

France seems to be settled in profound Peace (some invidiously call it abject Slavery) by that great and magnanimous Prince the Duke Regent, who by his artful prudent Conduct hath subdued the People of France under a State of Peace and absolute Power, so that Subjects and domestick Enemies are alike happy under the Young King, upon whose head the Regent hath set the Crown, and put the Scepter into his Hand in a much more masterly and absolute State, than his Great-grandfather Louis XIV. could ever attain unto; to the Immortal Honour of that Prince the Regent among Politicians: But Subjects are to seek to find a Name proper! The Primer Roman Priest, with all the subtle Politicks, and with all the delusive Eloquence of Rome, and his Agents, can't sing a Requiem to his Government; some potent Neighbours will give the Preference to their own Interest, before his pretended Blessing, or Fear of his Curses.

The Venetian hath a melancholy View, labours under anxious Thoughts, and servile Fear of the Turk, which Time will shew in Actions agreeable to their Name and rude Religion.

The Protestant Netherland must have more Regard to Honour and Veracity than they usually have had, or else they will pay for it in a Share of the Mundane Misfortunes.

A magnificent Prospect presents it self to the British Isles, in the benevolent Rays of the late Conjunction of the Three Superior Planets, in their threefold grand Conjunctions; Saturn the Papist may grumble, &c. Jupiter the High Church may make Essays to mount again into Government; the mad Jacks Mercury, &c. may consult, cabal and try their cunning Arts, play their subtle Tricks, but it will be in vain; Mars the Soldier will be Conquerable in Spite of their Teeth.

At the Suns Return to the Winter Solstice in December, 1723, the first Thing which shall be taken into Consideration, is a notable Opposition of the Two Misfortunes in September last past, from the Signs Sagitary and Gemini, Sol then in Virgo, in Square to both of them; this very untoward Aspect is made from the same Degree in which the Conjunction of Three Superior Planets happen'd the last Year, which makes it the more remarkable; and now Mars is come to the Opposition of all those Points, and near an Opposition of Saturn, from Gemini, the Significator of the City of London, as well as of other Towns and Cities; from whence may be judged will follow some untoward Heats and Disorders, some Infirmities or Sickness more than ordinary, in and about the City, and in the South and South-West Parts of the Kingdom; God preserve the Inhabitants of that City now and ever from all Epidemical Distempers, Sieknesses, and outrageous Fires, &c.

This

PARTRIDGE, 1724.

This Aspect also portends some turbulent Transactions in Matters relating to Religion, or that which Popish Knaves and Bigot Fools call so. Some Noise raised by or among a discontented Party, to raise a Buffle, and create Disturbance; some rash Debates, if not Actions, raised and carried on to amuse and abuse the People, under pretended Complaints of Loss of Liberty and Property, but cannot shew how to mend what they complain against; Experience manifests, that discontented Men grow warm in their false Opinions without true Reason, and then for Envy or Emulation espouse a Party without just Occasion; Pride tempts them to envy their Neighbour, and Envy prompts them to quarrel with their Brethren, for Causes meerly suppositious; and when they have given into mistaken Zeal, then to destroy or ruin them: These cursed Effects commonly flow from pernicious Opinions of hot-brain'd Priests, or Priest-ridden Zealots, who have embrac'd such Popish Principles, and are attack'd to Popish Persecution: Some of these Men, under the spacious Name, and august Sound of Church, act the Knaves, and others the Fools Part; the one with Knowledge and Design, and the other without, endeavours to restore and set up the Romish Religion in our Church, and the Heathen Tyranny of Popery in our State; these Men are Rattle Snakes in our Woods and Fields, that scatter their Poison amongst the unwary and innocent, and thereby irritate and stir up some hot and unquiet Spirits, into a Temper to persecute and destroy their Brethren, that they may, with more Ease and less Noise, resume their old Romish Government and Tyranny.

The Position and Application of Luna shews, Fair Words and Promises from Princes, and Supream Magistrates, to raise Taxes, Loans, &c. The Position of Mars, and his malevolent Aspects, are Signs of great Loss to Merchants, rash Contents, and publick Outrages, if not worse Actions. The in Aspect of Mars to Sol seems to point out the Death of some Prince, or Man of the first Station; it also menaces the City of London with Misfortunes, rash Actions, &c. The Position of Mars at the Lunation speaks the same; Mars and Mercury at the Lunation points out Misfortunes to Treasurers and Money-mongers, unexpected Obstructions, strange Delays and Turns in Treaties, unortunate to Embassadors, Plenipotentiaries, tentaries, and such Officers and Offices; the Malevolents seem to point Death, or grand Misfortune to a General, or toping Soldier; the violent Aspect of Mars to Sol portends Loss or Surrender of some Province, Fort, Port, or strong Hold; Death of some Magistrate; Misfortune to a toping walpert Citizen; the Application of Sol to Saturn portends Troubles and Misfortunes to a great Prince.

PARTRIDGE, 1724:

At the Commencement of the Spring Quarter, in March, Venus is halting to a Sextile of Mars, and Trine of Saturn; Mercury to a Trine of Mars; Sol to a Sextile of Jove; Mercury to a Sextile of Chronos; Jove casts a friendly Ray to Britain's Significator: These give a Prospect of Peace, Plenty and Happiness, but the greater Benevolent hath no greater Power than his Superior thinks fit to give, from whence High-Church may take Admonition, That she will not obtain the desired Government, but must remain dependent on the Civil. The froward Rays of Saturn will continue the old Leaven of Discontent, and ferment Murmuring and heartburning in a Party of Men, who in Practice (tho' not in advanc'd Principles) are near attack'd to the Roman in Religion; the rugged Rays of the Two Malevolents promise no Good to Sweden, and another Country; the cross-grain'd Aspect of Saturn to Venus portends some unwelcome News to Austria, Turin, Poland, and the Russian.

From the Lunation following the Ingress, there seems to be some Misunderstanding between France and Germany, touching Matter in or relating to Flanders, Italy, or Sicily. The Hollander seems to be concern'd also.

From the Application of Mars to the ill natur'd Aspect of Saturn, in March, expect to hear from the West-Indies, or some other Parts, an Account of Crimes as vile as brutish Men can invent and perpetrate. Another wretched Jackish Design, if not a Plot, Robberies, Murders, foul accusations, if not Impeachments, Heats, wranglings, and high Disputes in Parliament and Councils; Removes and Changes, Loss of Honour to some, and Employments to others; the discontented Party are set upon Scotland and else where; Holland provide, against shipwreck and Tempest, from Inundations pray, &c.

PARTRIDGE, 1724.

At the Return of Sol to his Summer Solstice, in June this Year, Mars is separated from an Opposition of Jupiter; this shews there hath been, or will be some untoward rugged Transactions, and some Distempers; some Part of Italy, Germany, Muscovy, Denmark, and Part of the Low Countries will have a Share of Misfortunes. This Opposition shews there will be Wreling and Disputes about Leagues, Jealousies raised, and Heats blown up amongst some great Men, who take Umbrage at the Action of one another, which tend to disturb the Tranquillity of these Countries signified by the Signs of their Positions, and this occasioned by Pride and Ambition of those, who distinguish themselves by the Title of Church Men, who are discontented because Mankind will not submit to their sole Dictates and Government. The Sardinian King seems greatly so; the Muscovite and Tartar look upon one another with bitter Emulation, the Saxons are under servile Apprehensions of Mischief, some of the Indian Plantations in Danger of great Misfortunes.

At the Return of Sol to the Autumnal Equinox, this Year in September, and at the preceding Lunation, Chironus is under the Earth. A restless Set of Men are plotting Mischief, to stir up and irritate to Murmuring, and Complaints of pretended Burdens, heavy Taxes, and arbitrary Conduct in Matters relating to Government, with Views and Designs to raise them up to a Temper fit for publick Mischief, and then push them into Practice by some hot headed Party. Martial Men, who are deluded into Jealousies and Discontents against their Governor and Government, by Men signified by Jupiter, just crept out of one base Consultation, and now are got into another, with a Party of Mercurial Villians, who have spun such a Thread that none but the Devil can wind, and yet are trying at another.

The Position of the Two Fortunes shews their Design will miscarry, altho' the Saturnal Tide assiduously blow the Coals with utmost Art and Diligence, to heat and irritate unthinking People in the great City into Methods destructive to their Peace and Interest; but the happy applications of Luna signifies, the Majority of the People will contrary to their Expectation be for preserving the Government upon Revolution Principles: And the other Fortunes in Sextile to Mars and Mercury, from an Equinoctial Sign, and and from the Fourth, are strenuous Significations, that the Britannick Monarch will prevail against the evil Machinations of his Enemies; that his Exchequer will be sufficient to promote, establish, and bring a good End to all Matters necessary for the Publick, and Good of his Loyal Subjects, in Spite of Envy it self.

ECLIPSES in 1724.

THE First Eclipse will be of the Moon, on the 27th Day of April, about 8 a Clock in the Morning, invisible in our Country; it portends the Death of common People by some untoward Fever; Mutinies and Seditions in Morocco, Fez, and other Parts of the World; Merchants, and Seamen, and such as are conversant in Sea Affairs, Embassadors, Messengers, &c. will meet with unexpected Turns of Misfortunes: The Russian looks as if he had a Mind to pour out some of his vial of Wrath on Norway, and some other of those Northern Countries.

The Second Eclipse will be of the Sun, on the 11th Day of May, in the Afternoon, it will begin 39 Minutes after 5 a Clock; the greatest Darkness will be at 36 Minutes after 6 a Clock, the End at 46 Minutes past 7 a Clock; the Sun's Body will be all dark in the Southernmost Parts of England, so that the Stars will there shew themselves, if the Air permit, in a surprizing Manner. There will be One Hour Forty Nine Minutes in Time from the Beginning of this Eclipse to the End.

This Eclipse presageth the abounding of Robbers and Pirates, Duels and Bloodshed, Mutinies and Seditions, if not Rebellions in some Countries: The Magistrates of those Countries and Cities (signified by Taurus, the Sign of the Congregation) must have a watchful Eye in Matters belonging to their Duty; some turbulent Spirits in the Cities of Paris, London, &c. must have due Care taken of them; the South and South West may fear some untoward Sickness or Distempers, &c. Some new Quarrel and Bagle of the Pen between Clergymen; it is in a human Sign Christian Morals will be the pretended Bone of Contention, &c. Some disco-tuned and disaffected Party Men will clamour, and make great Noise, Stir and Bustle against raising Money necessary to support Government.

The Third Eclipse will be of the lesser Luminary the 21st Day of October, about 4 a Clock in the Morning, the Beginning; beginning thereof at 57 Minutes past 2 a Clock, the End about 25 Minutes past 5 a Clock; from the Beginning to the End will be 2 Hours 32 Minutes of time.

PARTRIDGE, 1724.

This Eclipse hath Signification of the Destruction, Loss, or Death of great Cattle in a North East Country and North West Country; a more than ordinary Want of Money in Poland, Sweden, and Russia, Scarcity of some Sorts of Provisions necessary for sustaining human Kind.

The Fourth Eclipse will be small and invisible of the Sun, November the 4th, between 10 and 11 at Night.
